

Grant Writing Project: Advanced Grant Writing

Purpose

As a follow-up to the recently completed “Connecting the Dots” Grant Writing Seminar offered in Tucson, Phoenix and Flagstaff, two seminars will be offered to further develop grant writing skills. Participants completing post-seminar surveys indicated a strong interest in additional training to enhance skills in anticipation of the upcoming release of the Arizona Developmental Disabilities Planning Council Request for Grant Applications to occur in June, 2011.

Scope of Work

The current contractor, Pima Prevention Partnership (PPP) will be utilized for the additional training. The existing curriculum developed for training will be used as the primary teaching tool, with expansion on key sections of the curriculum. Training will include the following topics and approaches:

1. Each seminar will consist of a 6 hour session, in locations most proximate to facilitating the greatest number of participants.
2. Preferred participants will be those individuals who have recently completed the “Connecting the Dots” training or individuals who report a basic knowledge of grant writing.
3. Seminar design will incorporate activities that will allow participants to develop and practice various elements of key grant writing, to enhance skill development and obtain feedback from instructors and class peers. Topics selected will include those requested by previous participants completing post-training surveys.
